Matt Kettman, U-M Environment, Health & Safety

Welcome to what has been the beating heart of this campus since it was built. We are in a unique time at our University where so many important projects surround this central place and we hoped to gather together the many skilled tradespersons that build the future of this University.

Here at the Diag, paths from all over the University converge. If you visit the Diag while students are traveling between classes, literally thousands of people will pass you in just a few minutes. If you want to get the attention of the University, this is where you do it. That's why we are here today. To draw attention to safety and specifically to the hazards of falls.
