13.2.2 The rates of wages and fringe benefits to be paid to each class of "construction mechanics" (as that term is defined in the Prevailing Wage Act) by the members of the Construction Team will not be less than the wage and fringe benefit rates prevailing in the locality in which the Work is to be performed, as determined from time to time by the Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Administration Wage & Hour Division of the Department of Labor and Economic Opportunity (the "commissioner" as that term is defined in the Prevailing Wage Act).

13.2.3 The Contractor will keep posted on the construction site, in a conspicuous place, a copy of all applicable prevailing wage and fringe benefit rates and will keep an accurate record showing the name and occupation of and the actual wages and benefits paid to each construction mechanic employed in connection with the Work. This record will be provided to the Owner and also will be available for reasonable inspection.

13.2.4 If the Contractor is advertising for any bids on the Project, the Owner, before the Contractor advertised for the bids, will have the commissioner determine the prevailing rates for wages and fringe benefits for all classes of construction mechanics called for in any Subcontract. A schedule of these rates will be made a part of the specifications for the work to be performed and will be printed on the bidding forms where the work is to be done by a Subcontractor. If a contract is not awarded or construction undertaken within 90 days of the date of the commissioner's determination of prevailing rates of wages and fringe benefits, the commissioner will make a redetermination before the Subcontract is awarded.

13.2.5 No member of the Construction Team will discharge, discipline, retaliate against, or otherwise discriminate against a construction mechanic, or threaten to do any of these things, because the construction mechanic reported or was about to report a violation or suspected violation of this act.

13.2.6 The construction mechanics are intended third party beneficiaries of the contractual prevailing wage, fringe benefit, and nondiscrimination nonretaliation requirements set forth in the section 13.2, and any construction mechanic aggrieved by the failure of a contractor or subcontractor to pay prevailing wages or benefits as specified in the contract, or by a violation of section 7 of the Prevailing Wage Act, in addition to any other remedies provided in this act or by law, may bring an action in a court of competent jurisdiction against the contractor or subcontractor for damages or injunctive relief and may be awarded reinstatement or other appropriate relief, and all damages sustained, together with actual costs and attorney fees at trial and on appeal.

13.2.8 The Owner, by written notice to the Contractor, and to the surety of the Contractor, may terminate the Contractor's right to proceed with that part of the Work for which less than the prevailing rates of wages and fringe benefits have been or will be paid, and may proceed to complete to Contract by separate agreement with another contractor or otherwise, and the original Contractor and the Contractor's surety will be liable to the Owner for any excess costs occasioned thereby, including all Owner review costs. Any person, firm or corporation or combination thereof, including the officers of any contracting agent, violating the provisions of the Act is guilty of a misdemeanor.

13.2.9 In case there is an omission of any trade from the list of wage rates and fringe benefits to be paid to each class of mechanics by the Contractor, it will be understood that the trades omitted will also be paid not less than the wage and fringe benefit rates prevailing in the locality in which the Work is to be performed.
